

CALL for PAPER

27th & 28th

March 2026

 Amrita School of Engineering
Bengaluru Campus

Themes:

- Cultural studies
- Gender Studies
- Memory Studies
- Diasporic and Migration Studies
- AI Intervention in Literary Studies and Language Teaching
- Folk and Oral Narratives
- Posthumanism
- Emerging trends in Translation Studies
- Emerging trends in Literary Criticism
- Health and Medical Humanities
- Indian Knowledge System
- Environmental Humanities
- Culinary Narratives
- Film and Media Studies
- Marginal Studies

SCAN TO REGISTER

IDLS 2026 is an international conference hosted by the Department of English, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, Bengaluru, on 27–28 March 2026, themed “21st Century Approaches to Interdisciplinary Dialogues in Literary Studies.” The conference foregrounds literature as a vital space to rethink narratives, engage with contemporary realities, and imagine alternative futures through diversified and adaptive critical approaches. It brings together interdisciplinary perspectives from fields such as sociology, psychology, artificial intelligence, Indian knowledge systems, medical and digital humanities, media and film studies, political science, journalism, law, and environmental studies. By fostering dialogues across disciplines, IDLS 2026 aims to expand the scope of literary studies and generate innovative, pluralistic modes of inquiry.

Publishing Partners:

Bloomsbury Publishing and Peter Lang Group

Important Dates

Registration starts from

Dec 2025

Last date for Abstract Submission is

25th Feb 2026

Full paper submission by

25th March 2026

Who can participate

Academicians, researchers, and faculty members, Doctoral and postgraduate students and independent scholars

All submissions will undergo peer review and select papers will be published in Scopus-indexed conference proceedings by Bloomsbury or in the edited volume by Peter Lang that will be sent to indexing by the publisher.

Submit your abstract of not more than 250 words. Full paper should follow word limit of 5000 to 6000. The primary language of conference is English.